

Most of my new articles will be published over at my other site, BIMscape.com . Rest assured that I am still producing new Revit articles- the target is to get one new article out to you guys per day

. Today I have just published an article on a really slick way to depict the position of your overhead elements, in plan views using the Linework tool.

The article can be found here

To make it easy to keep up with new content, I produce a monthly BIM Newsletter which contains links to all the new articles. If you'd like to receive this Newsletter, just put your email address in the box on the upper left of this site.

The Newsletters are handled by the MailChimp service and you have my word that your email address remains strictly with me and MailChimp. You can UnSubscribe at any time. And unlike some sites I personally subscribe to, my Newsletter is monthly- I am not going to fill you InBox with emails each day!