

Now I like this one. I really like this one! I have been a big fan of DWF markups in Revit for a while now. It just seems such a natural thing to do. So when I came across this excellent guide over at the Rev it TotD (Tip of the Day) site, I just had to post a link.

Anything that saves paper and improves productivity / efficiency has to be a good thing- doesn't it?

Check out the full article here