

I've finally got my Facebook Page sorted! All new Revit articles will be linked to on this page. So along with my Twitter feed, it's another way to stay informed of new content.

I've had quite a few emails from people saying that the articles here at Revit Zone have helped them get to grips with the software. Whilst it's always very rewarding to receive positive feedback- I appreciate that not everyone has the time to send an email.

If you do find the information here useful, a simple hit of the "Like" button on my Facebook page will let me know that I'm still heading in the right direction!

My Facebook Page- Please "Like" if you have found the information at Revit Zone useful

