

Displacement Sets are a fairly recent addition to Revit- but a very welcome one. They allow you to create an exploded 3D view of part your model- in order to show how the assembly goes together.

For a full tutorial on how Displacement Sets works (using a simple example), please see my article on BIMscape's website